Library Plus and Council Offices, Towcester

The new community building, The Forum, at the heart of Towcester, Northamptonshire is now open and home to South Northants Council offices and Northamptonshire’s County Council’s Library Plus and Registrar. Demco Interiors was the consultant for the design and specification at the start of the project and was subsequently nominated as FF&E contractor for the new Library Plus and registration services.

The library has a 580sqm footprint and seamlessly blends with council services and offices through a design led atrium, using crossover items such as glass display units and book stands. The library space is discretely divided into zones using subtle colour themes. Pockets of space are used for soft seating and soft spots so that visitors can do their own ‘nesting’. The fabrics used throughout are actually antibacterial, wipe-clean vinyl but with the look, feel, colour and design of fabric.

A standout feature and on trend for library spaces is the White Wall. The stylish, white, concealed storage walls, designed and manufactured by Demco. The hireable pods, have flexible furniture to accommodate different groups while the light and airy Watermeadow rooms are venues for Adult Learning for the Towcester area.

Northamptonshire Library Service is commissioned to deliver Universal (and targeted) Children’s Services for the County and as part of this one third of the library space is designated as children’s space. This spacious area is designed using a mix of standard furnishings from the Demco range with some bespoke elements such as the mini-sized IT furnishings.

Robyn Davison, Principal Librarian (West Area) said: “The Demco design team has been fantastic. I’ve always said that we wanted the WOW factor and that is exactly what the team has delivered. I couldn’t be more delighted and judging by the feedback we have had so far, nor could the public!”.
